

IUFRO International Conference on Reforestation Under Drought

We are excited to host the inaugural IUFRO International Conference on Reforestation Under Drought from July 7-10 in Independence, Oregon, USA.

Droughts are more frequent, more intense, and lasting longer than in previous decades -- resulting in unforeseen consequences for forest regeneration around the globe. Novel research from different biomes is being conducted to further our understanding of forest regeneration physiological responses to drought, develop nursery techniques to improve seedling survival under drought, and test silvicultural techniques to adapt to drought. The goal of this conference is to bring together leading forest researchers and practitioners to share the latest research findings on reforestation in areas challenged with drought around the globe.

This international conference is expected to attract a diverse range of participants, including professionals, researchers, and students. The primary goal of the event is to create a platform for knowledge exchange, networking, and collaboration among industry, governmental agencies, and universities.

Your generous sponsorship will be one of the key factors in making the conference successful. We are seeking sponsorships at multiple levels: Platinum Sponsorship $3,000 (USD), Gold Sponsorship $1,000 (USD), or Silver Sponsorship $750. Exhibitors are welcome for two days at $650 (USD) or all four days at $850 (USD). In return for your generous support, we will provide prominent recognition and exposure for your organization as outlined in the attached sponsorship flyer.

We kindly request your response by February 15, 2026 to ensure adequate planning and inclusion of your organization in our promotional materials. We are confident that your sponsorship will make a meaningful difference, and we are excited to welcome you as a valued partner at the conference.

Thank you for your time and consideration.
